Many readers are enchanted by fantasy and science fiction to move away from reality determined by the physical rules of our world. Such fantastic and science fictional elements as dreams, magic, mystery, a supernatural and a suprarational world all have contributed to the popularity of these genres. Ray Bradbury who wrote hundreds of stories was an important American writer who dealt with these two popular genres in his stories. He is defined as "one of the masters of science fiction and fantasy" (Bloom 1). His fascin Science fiction and Fantasy both fall under speculative fiction genre where many elements, characters, and settings are created out of imagination and speculation rather than reality and everyday life. However, there is a distinct difference between science fiction and fantasy. Science fiction is based on science and technology and therefore, depicts scenarios that could be true one day. Science fiction is based on imagined future scientific or technological advances and major social or environmental changes. It often deals with futuristic settings and plots such as time travel, space travel, extraterrestrial life, parallel universe, and various futuristic scientific inventions. This type of fiction often involves various laws or theories of science. Semantic Scholar is a free, AI-powered research tool for scientific literature, based at the Allen Institute for AI.
