The Customs Union is an essential element of the European Union's single market with its four basic freedoms: the free circulation of goods, persons, services and capital. This single market with 370 million consumers is the largest in the industrialised world. The single market with no internal economic frontiers is the catalyst for the economic integration of the European Union. Thus the effects of the Community's Customs Union are far reaching. To set up, develop and run a single common market, where goods freely circulate everywhere, can be done only within the framework of a Cus...
