Amid those discussions, Calvin often seemed to be more of a living conversation partner than the dead and buried author of the text before us. We hope that others, in reading this work, will experience Calvin xxiii A LITTLE BOOK ON THE CHRISTIAN LIFE conversing with them "comforting and exhorting them" as powerfully as we did as we labored on it. It is actually the development of the life of Christ in the Christian. A New Nature. A fruit is a living thing. If you have yielded control of your life to the Holy Spirit, He will unfailingly produce in you the fruit of the Spirit in a continuous and plentiful harvest. As a Christian, all of the genuine and lasting beauty of character adorning your life, the Christlikeness, inward and outward, is the work of the Holy Spirit "until Christ is formed in you" (Galatians 4:19). Fruit Illustrated. The Vine and Its Branches. In a Christian's life, the discipline of pruning is accomplished by the Father through circumstances and influences that bring a growing maturity and dependence on the Lord. Hebrews 12:5-6 reveals that the discipline or correction of the Lord shows that we belong to Him
